

Victim rescued in Livermore

Chronology of rampage, see page 3

LIVERMORE — A Nipomo farm worker, kidnapped and tied to a tree on Morgan Territory Road Monday, was picked up in Livermore by two Alameda County Sheriff's officers to conclude a weekend spree of robbery, kidnapping and murder.

Constantino Barbosa Jr., 21, said he was preparing to buy a sweatshirt at a market in Santa Maria when approached by a man and a woman who said their car needed a jump. When they got into Barbosa's car, the two pulled a gun and kidnapped him, he later told police.

Police later said the kidnappers matched descriptions of two persons involved in a crime rampage begun in Contra Costa County Saturday that left two persons dead and included two robberies and seven persons kidnapped. The two kidnappers were tentatively identified by police as Michael Hide, 34, of Concord, and Nancy Green, 22, of Pittsburg.

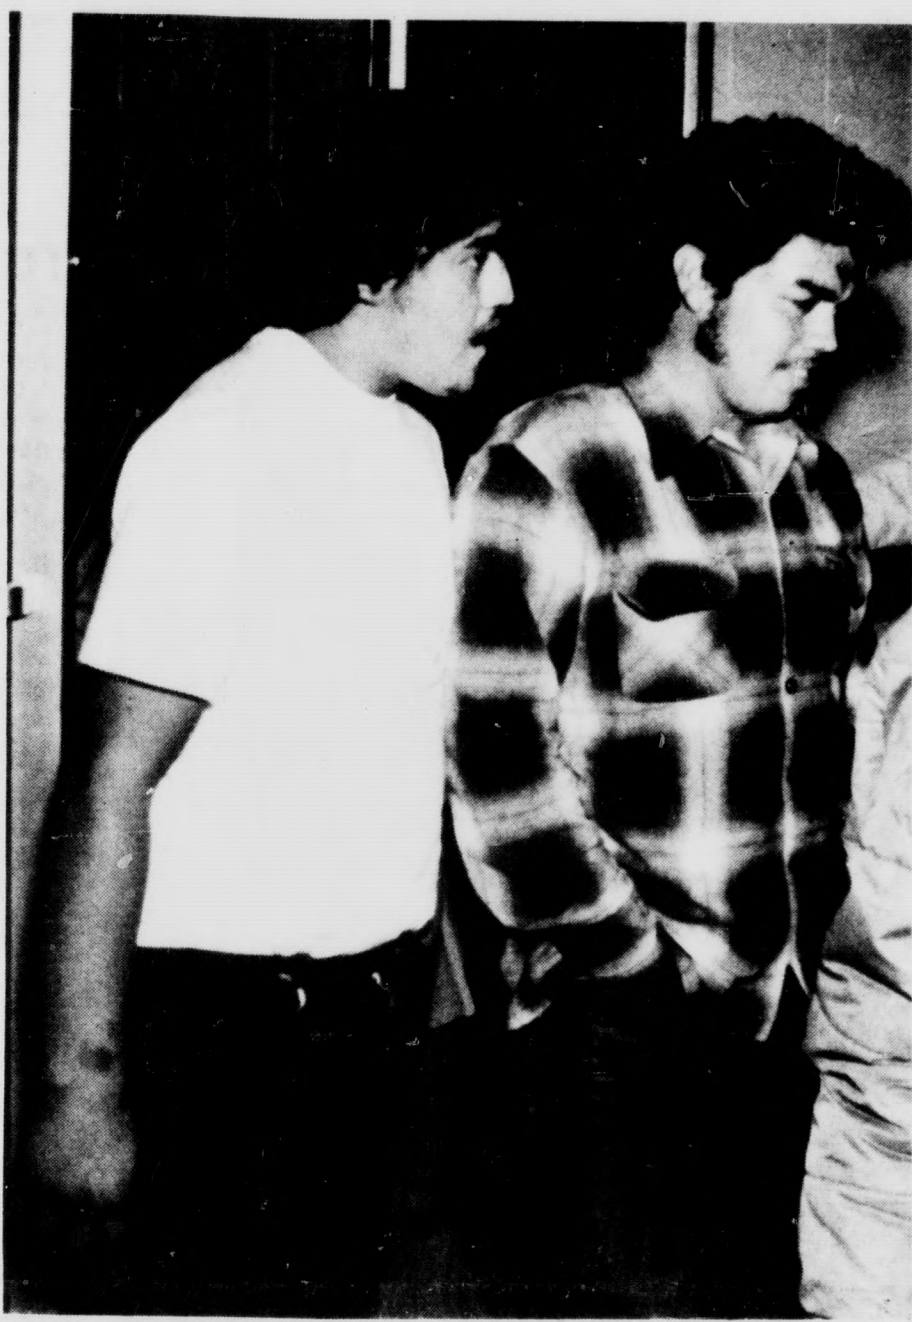

The kidnappers drove Barbosa to a spot nine miles up Morgan Territory Road and tied him to a tree. He sustained a minor scalp wound where one of his captors hit him with a pistol.

Barbosa told police it took him 10 minutes after the kidnappers left to undo the cord binding him to a tree. He flagged down a passing motorist and rode down North Livermore Avenue to a gas station on Portola, where he phoned deputies at Santa Rita Jail.

Sgt. Duane Gull said he and Sgt. Cliff Dias of Livermore received the call about 2:25 Monday afternoon. They picked Barbosa up and brought him to Santa Rita for questioning.

The two officers then drove Barbosa back to the spot on Morgan Territory Road where he was tied. Belts and cord used to bind the victim were recovered as evidence at the scene.

Barbosa was later transferred to the Contra Costa Sheriff's Department for further questioning. His family drove 350 miles from Nipomo, near Pismo Beach, to pick him up.

Firefighters want a voice, bigger crews

PLEASANTON — Rank and file firefighters were disappointed over the city council's fire department allocations for two reasons Monday night, one having to do with department staffing the other with free speech. The council authorized expenditure of $106,000 to hire two police officers, a permanent fire chief and an assistant fire chief. The council heard a report from City Manager Bill Edgar on an alternative proposal from the firemen. It expressed their views on how the department should be staffed.

However, Mayor Robert Philcox refused to hear any public input on the item and that has Lt. Dennis Laurence, president of the firefighters union local, puzzled.

"We've been talking to the city manager and getting along pretty well," said Laurence. "The city manager thought we should be heard, but it was the city council which cut us off. I don't know why. Maybe their attitude was 'Don't confuse me with the facts.'"

The council had written information about the union's plan left them by Laurence who drove to their homes over the weekend. But he had a few more things to say beyond that, including a dramatic assertion that the city's assessed valuation has increased $64 million since 1971 with no real increase in fire department manpower.

The crux of the fire union's difference from what the council adopted is the hiring of two more firefighters instead of an assistant chief. For a few thousand dollars more than the assistant chief's salary, the city could add two firefighters, according to Laurence.

Those two firefighters, together with returning shift captains to regular shift duty, would free enough manpower to put three man companies on duty at Highland Oaks and Pleasanton Meadows stations.

"It's important to have three men on duty at those stations," said Laurence. "With the two man crews, you can raise the ladder to only one window in a two story house. You have to choose the window with the most people. With a third man, he can be putting water over the other window to help save people there."

The plan the council adopted will put captains on shift duty, but the manpower freed by that action will be kept down at Station One. The manpower will go to rescue squad duty working out of that station.

It's nice to have a rescue squad down at Station One, but the better choice is to put extra manpower out in the neighborhoods, said Laurence.

The fire union members think hiring an assistant chief is superfluous. Laurence doubts that the permanent fire chief would be away from the city 20 per cent of the time as City Manager Bill Edgar claimed, but even if he were the Department of Public Safety Chief should be able to cover for the fire chief.

Laurence thinks the council "did a disservice to people served by the Highland Oaks and Pleasanton Meadows stations. They got a lot of facts and figures about how Station One has so many runs, but they skirt the fact that the only two deaths have been in the station area served by Pleasanton Meadows."

"We live here, too," Laurence said of his fellow firefighters. "We are taxpayers and we want to present things to the city council. We are not getting anything out of this, no pay raise, no benefits. We want men to lay hose and someone sitting in a swivel chair at the fire department office isn't going to do that for us."

'What the hell are we doing?'

Council stalls pipeline decision

PLEASANTON — The city council decided to wait until Monday to decide exactly what it will do about the LAVWMA pipeline.

Vice-mayor Joyce LeClaire wanted the city council to appropriate approximately $44,000 as the city's share of engineering study costs to further the pipeline, which appears now to be the only answer to strict clean water mandates from the state.

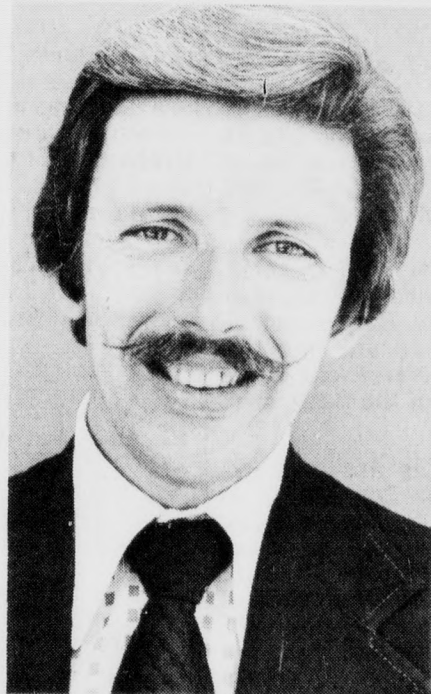

But Council members William Herlihy and Frank Brandes felt that there is still too little information about exactly what the three agencies involved in LAVWMA are going to do and how they are going to do it.

Herlihy expressed concern about the size of the proposed pipeline and "cost estimates that have been off by 20 or 30 per cent." He asked the rhetorical question, "What the hell are we doing?"

"I'm not going to vote for a project that has not been approved by anyone," said Herlihy. He wondered just how much capacity would be in what size pipe, since the capacity of the pipeline can be boosted through hydraulic pumping.

Brandes said there still are too many questions unanswered and it wouldn't hurt to wait a week before making a decision.

Mayor Robert Philcox said the project obviously is important and the state has become concerned about whether the valley will move along on the state-mandated timetable for cleaning up the wastewater problem here.

LeClaire said that it "is not politically wise to delay at all. Voting on this tonight would show Pleasanton's good faith. To advance this now would look good to the state."

Philcox added that the Livermore City Council earlier in the day voted to advance $174,000 for its share of the engineering costs. "I'll feel bad tomorrow if we don't do this," said Philcox. LeClaire had made a motion to approve the $44,000 allocation, but withdrew it when it was obvious it was not the council consensus.

Sunol crash, brothers die

SUNOL — Two brothers were killed late Monday when their car went out of control and smashed into trees on Niles Canyon Road, a highway patrol spokesman said yesterday.

Michael Anthony Boyd, 26, of 2251 Buena Vista Ave. in San Leandro, and his brother, Timothy Paul Boyd, 20, of 27241 Sleepy Hollow Way in Hayward, were dead at the scene.

The spokesman said the car skidded around a curve and hit the trees, coming to rest 30 feet from the Alameda Creek bridge.

An investigation into the crash is continuing.

Design go-ahead for Santa Rita

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — Architectural work for an elaborate new booking facility at the county's Santa Rita jail will begin immediately, even though the idea once the debate over pre-trial detention facilities in the South County is ended.

Board members, though balking at the $556,000 price tag, agreed unanimously yesterday to order preliminary work on building the new center to meet State Board of Corrections and Fire Marshal's codes. The new booking building will be equipped with closed circuit television and will handle more than 100 prisoners a day.

Federal public works funds will cover the costs.

Remodeling the existing booking facility, dubbed a "horror show" by both county supervisor Tom Bates and sheriff Tom Houchins, would cost an estimated $425,000 because of its "dilapidated condition," according to a memo from the county administrator's office.

The new facility would be built next to the jail's maximum security Greystone cellblock, and would serve as the general entrance to the sprawling 960-acre jail. The new entrance would mean an end to complaints by citizens of being "harassed" at the main gate on their way to the county's animal control shelter, argued county administrator Loren Enoch.

Nevertheless, board members still are leary of committing a half-million dollars to a "temporary" facility.

A report recommending a new jail for sentenced prisoners is expected early next year, and county supervisors still have not solved their dispute with Hayward officials over construction of a pre-trial holding facility next to the new South County hall of justice.

Hayward officials have held out for a jail in an industrial area away from the courts, while supervisors and superior court judges have argued for the adjacent facility.

Also clouding the issue is next year's political makeup of the board.

South County supervisor Charles Santana said he wants "a feeling for the new board's" attitude toward the question of jails before he is prepared to commit a half-million dollars.

Freshmen supervisors Valerie Raymond and John George both campaigned on an end to the "construction boom" in building jails.

The county report acknowledges the county has "neglected the maintenance of Santa Rita," and admits "the entire compound is in deplorable condition." But it praises sheriff Houchins for running it so well so long.

A new post-sentence jail would not be ready for another seven to 12 years, the report adds.

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Crank calls in SR

Annoyance and obscene phone calls have become everyday occurrences in the lives of a large portion of San Ramon residents.

These two types of calls can usually be handled by the customer or through assistance from the phone company. A third type, threatening, should be reported to the sheriff's department.

Hanging up without response usually discourages the caller. If they persist, the phone company suggests blowing a whistle loudly into the mouthpiece. (They caution recipients of the call to make sure they are hearing from a crank, not a friend, since the noise at the other end is deafening.)

If the calls become chronic, there are a number of aids the phone company can recommend.

How to mail treasures

PLEASANTON — The post office has a handy list of ABC's for those sending parcels through the mails at Christmas time.

A. Always individually cushion and separate fragile items in the same package. Newspaper or similar materials provide good cushioning.

B. Be sure you put textile products in a sturdy container since the goods themselves won't support the box.

C. Choose good packaging for sturdy hardware items like electric knives. The light cardboard box in which such goods are sold never was intended to be a shipping container. Cushioning can be crumpled newspaper or similar materials.

All packages intended for mailing should be sealed with reinforced tape. Put the address on one side of the outer carton, but put a supplemental address card inside to assure delivery if the outer address becomes illegible, if you wish.

She wants tax relief

"Property tax relief is one of my major concerns," Valerie Raymond advised a gathering of business people on Tuesday. In one of her first public appearances since being elected supervisor for Alameda County's First District, Ms. Raymond cited "gravel truck traffic and the future of those pits" as high on her priority list in the next four years. The story appears on page 2.

LAVWMA meets tonight

LIVERMORE — The Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) will meet tonight at 6:30 at city council chambers, 39 South Livermore Ave., to try and decide funding, size and allocation of the proposed wastewater disposal pipeline.

The joint powers agency will consider an amendment that would allow the basic residential-size 15.62 million gallons per day (mgd) pipeline to be built without a vote of the people. The present agreement allows a maximum 13 mgd pipe to be built without voter approval.

Coastal controls in

Coastal land use controls come into effect next month marking a compromise end to a four-year old battle over development of some of California's most dramatic real estate.

A bill signed by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. in September provides for planning controls that aren't quite enough for environmentalists, but too much for developers. The controls were spawned by Prop. 20, a 1972 ballot measure that set up temporary commissions with power over coastal development.

The new bill sets down a series of policies that local coastal governments must follow in land planning.

For details, see page 17.

Pleasanton chamber lunch

Raymond tells of major targets

Gravel truck traffic, property tax relief and "better communications between county government and local officials" will be the primary targets of Valerie Raymond in her first year as supervisor from Alameda County's First District.

Speaking before a Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting on Tuesday, Raymond gave evidence that she has been "busy trying to learn all about this job" in the 29 days since she pulled off a startling election victory over John D. Murphy, the 16-year veteran supervisor from this district.

Repeating many of the pledges she has made to the public and the press since her election, the first woman member of the Alameda County board did offer a few new insights into her political philosophy.

"I'm not about to vote for a property tax increase next year," she said in review of the "property tax mess" which she thinks is a number one priority for local, county and state government. But she added that "on the whole I find Alameda County assessments are equitable."

Nor will industrial development provide substantial relief for the local property owner, she believes. "It would help your city tax rate, that's true," she said, noting that the city tax rate is however only about one seventh of the total tax burden on property.

Regardless of what relief is found from county or state legislative levels, it "will always fall on the middle income group" to support the cost of government, including a growing array of social services. And when those services are dispensed, the same middle income family is often bypassed.

"People who fall between the cracks these days are those who can't qualify for Medi Cal, but who are too poor to afford full rates" for such medical services as psychiatric counseling, Raymond said.

It is to "try to take some of the those social services off of the property tax" where Raymond believes that tax burden might best be eased.

"Communication" was one of her major campaign themes, and Raymond still sees this as her major goal in the four years ahead. She wants to set up "monthly meetings with local officials" to bridge the gap between municipal and county government, and even state government.

Raymond also confirmed for The Times that she will "definitely set up half-time offices in Fremont and in this Valley." She is entitled to one administrative aide, one secretary in the South County and one secretary in her Oakland office. "I will spread this money as best I can to maintain three offices," she stated.

The supervisor-elect is also concerned "with the way the county board now handles Federal Revenue Sharing ... like sending everyone through the hoops every year." She pointed out that the Health Care Center operated in Pleasanton for these four Valley communities "could be cut off" with any sizeable shift in the county board's allocation of Federal Funds.

Answering questions as to the Williamson Act for agricultural preserves, Raymond noted that "there are several flaws" in this program but she still wants to see an approach to assessment of rural lands that "will keep ranching viable in this area."

Raymond was introduced to the Chamber by Warren Harding, a past president of that body and a former mayor of Pleasanton.

"RAP" SHEET

Phony twenty dollar bills being passed

PLEASANTON — A poor imitation of a $20 bill that was passed to a clerk at Grutman's clothing store on Santa Rita Road Sunday is apparently one of a batch of bogus bills circulating throughout the San Francisco Bay Area, police said yesterday.

Police said the bills had been passed in San Francisco and Oakland mostly by blacks, but is spreading to the suburbs by whites who appear to be dope addicts.

Grutman's was apparently the first business in the Valley to receive the counterfeit money, police indicated.

The bills are poor imitations, officers said, stating they have bright green Treasury Department seals, feature blotchy engraving around the portrait area, and are printed on flimsy paper stock.

Real bills are sharp and distinct with crisp definition around critical detail areas. The paper, which is the costliest in the world, usually contains red and blue threads visible in the white areas.

Anyone receiving bogus bills should report it immediately to the police agency in his area.

Stereo equipment taken from apartment

PLEASANTON — Burglars forced open a sliding glass door to enter a Vineyard Avenue apartment Monday night and took a stereo system valued at $1,345, police reported.

Tony Harrison told officers he returned to his apartment after a five-hour absence and discovered the burglary.

Missing items include a Sansui brand QRX-7500 four-channel receiver, Sansui reverberator, and Technics brand turntable. The bedspread and quilt to Harrison's king-size waterbed were also stolen and probably used to cart off the stereo gear, police said. There are no suspects.

Two men injured when bottle breaks windshield

PLEASANTON — Two Pleasanton men were injured when bottles thrown at their car broke two windows Saturday, police reported.

Gary William Cummings, 22, of Woodthrust Court, and Willie Espeseth, 22, of Black Avenue, told police they were driving on Foothill Road about 1:30 p.m. Saturday when a car passed and cut them off. Two persons got out and threw beer bottles, breaking the windshield and right door glass.

Cummings suffered facial cuts from the flying glass. Espeseth sustained cuts to his lower back when he ducked.

No arrests were made in the case.

Car burglarized at Howard Johnson's

DUBLIN — Burglars pried the right wing window to a car parked in Howard Johnson's parking lot early Sunday and took a .45-caliber pistol valued at $371, police reported.

Sheriff's deputies said that the gun, a fire extinguisher and clothes were taken from Chester L. Lewis' van. The gun is described as a Colt .45-caliber automatic with rosewood grips.

There are no suspects.

CB unit taken from car in parking lot

DUBLIN — A $249 citizens band radio was taken from a car parked in a lot on Village Parkway early Saturday, deputies reported.

Roy L. Schoffstall of Black Avenue in Pleasanton told police he returned to his car after a three-hour absence and discovered the theft. Missing is a Formula One brand CB unit.

Deputies said the right door had been pried open. There are no suspects.

Doctor's office burglarized of tools, drugs

LIVERMORE — Burglars pried a window to enter a doctor's office on South O Street early Saturday and took $300 in surgical instruments and a quantity of drugs, police reported.

Dr. Bryan H. Fullmer discovered the theft Saturday. Police found no clues to the burglary inside the office.

There are no suspects.

Police watch home

PLEASANTON — A two-hour vigil by a police sergeant of a Churchill Drive residence Monday was brought about by a custody dispute in a house there, police said.

Attorneys representing both sides in the dispute called police to watch over the situation, a spokesman said.

Tools taken from Madeira Way garage

LIVERMORE — Burglars removed a toolbox containing $529 in tools from a Madeira Way garage recently, police said.

Manual Mello told officers that a Sears brand impact tool was among several automotive tools taken.

There are no suspects.

One last party for Kay Dunham, the popular Livermore Unified School District secretary to personnel chief Jack Waggoner. Kay retired yesterday, a month late because the district had a recent changeover in personnel chiefs and begged her to stay on a bit to provide continuity in the department. A feast complete with nautical theme was attended by 45 of Kay's colleagues yesterday in the Education Center.

Still blood need
Injured youth better

PLEASANTON — Bruce Ramos, the local man who was critically injured last Wednesday in an auto accident, was "doing quite well and resting comfortably" yesterday at Washington Township Hospital, Fremont.

Ramos, who will be 25 next Tuesday, was graduated from Amador High School. His Datsun 280Z went out of control and crashed into a tree in Fremont as he tried to pass another car, according to reports.

Because of internal bleeding and chest surgery, Ramos used 32 pints of blood in the hours that followed the accident. Now, his family has to pay it back to Washington Township Hospital along with an additional 31 pints to replenish the blood bank.

Notice to business owners regarding 'Legal Advertising'

The Times has received queries from several business firms in the Valley relative to "Fictitious Name" legal notices placed in this newspaper in accordance with state law. Telephone calls made by a representative of the Tri Valley Herald to these business firms have suggested, among other things, that "notices placed in The Times on behalf of Livermore business interests are not legally acceptable." Additional claims are made regarding the price charged for those legal notices.

The Times (Incorporating The Pleasanton Times) is an adjudicated newspaper within Alameda County, and is therefore qualified to accept any legal advertising, for any private or governmental operation, within Alameda County.

In addition, Valley Times is an adjudicated newspaper within Contra Costa County and is thereby entitled to publish any and all legal notices which pertain to Contra Costa County.

Because all advertising placed in any one of The Times' editions appears in all three of those editions, all legal notices appear in just over 28,000 copies of The Times reaching over 90 percent of this total market area.

These facts have been checked with the County Clerk and, we understand, relayed also to the Tri Valley Herald for the edification of their sales representatives. The Times regrets any inconvenience caused Valley business owners by misrepresentations of this newspaper's legal status.

Reading scores aired

PLEASANTON — An in-depth report on the state test scores of Pleasanton schools on reading, language arts, spelling, and math tests will highlight tonight's Pleasanton Joint School District board meeting.

Trustees convene at the District Education Center, 123 Main St., at 7:30 p.m.

Gloria Jones, district director of pupil personnel services, will review the state testing program and

Dr. David Carlisle, district director of research and development, will report on the school-by-school test results.

Carlisle's report will include performance of individual Pleasanton schools on the tests back through 1970-71.

The results of grade two and grade three reading tests and grade six reading, language, spelling and math tests generally show that Pleasanton students are maintaining consistently high standards.

The tests were taken by second, third and sixth graders of 1975-76.

Board members will also establish summer school dates.

Here's what happened in bizarre spree

Three persons, wanted in connection with a three-day crime spree that started in Contra Costa County, were in custody Monday night, and authorities were looking for a fourth suspect.

The four were wanted for a series of activities which resulted in two killings, seven kidnappings, two robberies, and the wounding of a sheriff's deputy.

Monday's arrest in Lake County capped a day of intensive work by law enforcement officials in Central California.

Nancy Sanchez, also known as Nancy Green, 22, Pittsburg, and Michael Heide, 34, Concord, were taken into custody about 8:30 p.m. Monday at Clear Lake after a high-speed chase.

Sgt. Bob Kies of the Lake County sheriff's office said a loaded gun was found in the car occupied by the two, but he said they were arrested without incident after a chase.

Arrested Sunday night after a shootout with deputies in San Luis Obispo County was Louise Peterson, 23, Salem, Ore. She was being held without bail for investigation of homicide, kidnapping, attempted murder, conspiracy, armed robbery, assault and receiving stolen property.

Authorities Monday night were still seeking William Caldwell, 26, Concord.

The four were wanted in connection with the slayings Saturday of Michael K. Groves, 22, who was stabbed to death in his apartment at 1984 Harbor St., Pittsburg, and Stewart Morris, 33, Walnut Creek, who was shot to death during a holdup of a Concord liquor store where he worked as a clerk.

After a three-day spree covering an area of California stretching from San Luis Obispo on the south to Lake County on the north, the four were also wanted in connection with six kidnappings involving seven persons, the theft of several vehicles and two robberies, including that of the ABC Liquor Store, 5267 Clayton Road, Concord, during which Morris was killed.

In Lakeport, Sgt. Kies said Sanchez and Heide were arrested after a routine traffic check of a vehicle on Highway 29 near Lower Lake. Deputies chased the vehicle, at speeds up to 85 miles an hour, for about 15 miles before stopping it at Highway 29 and 53.

The two were arrested without incident, although Kies said a loaded gun was found in the front seat of the car. Earlier it had been reported the four had signed a pact not to be taken alive.

Concord authorities were planning Monday night to bring the two back to Contra Costa County. Sanchez was being held at Lakeport and Heide in custody in Lower Lake.

Police believe the series of events began Saturday afternoon in Pittsburg with the stabbing death of Groves.

Pittsburg police are holding a neighbor, Dan Boyce, 40, in connection with the stabbing, reported about 5 p.m. Saturday. Groves, who was alive when police arrived to investigate the incident, identified Boyce as his assailant, and said others were in the apartment when he was stabbed.

Authorities believe the four suspects may have lived in the apartment with Boyce.

San Luis Obispo County Sgt. Ed Carroll Monday night confirmed that Peterson, at the request of Pittsburg police, was being held for "investigation of homicide" among other things.

Authorities said they did not know the extent of the suspects' involvement in the stabbing, which happened after a lengthy argument between Boyce and Groves.

About two hours after the stabbing, authorities believe, Caldwell and Heide went to the Western Way Bar, 5275 Clayton Road, Concord. By 8:45 p.m. they left, following a customer, Harold Freeman, 24, Concord, into the parking lot.

Freeman told police they produced a gun and forced him into the trunk of his vehicle.

The kidnap victim told police he was driven around "for a while" and then the drivers parked the vehicle. Freeman said he heard several shots, apparently those fired during the robbery of the liquor store.

Killed in the robbery, which netted the suspects about $280, was Morris.

Freeman told authorities that the car then sped off, but later stopped to pick up two more persons, reportedly Sanchez and Peterson.

He said he remembered being driven "for a long time," and said at one point he was able to see a highway sign, indicating the vehicle was in Monterey.

Freeman was able to work his way out of the locked trunk in Santa Barbara, after the vehicle had broken down and had been abandoned by the four.

Sunday morning the suspects reportedly hitched a ride from Jay Fromer, 22, formerly of Concord and now of Santa Barbara.

Fromer told police he was bound and placed on the floorboard of his car. About 3 p.m. Sunday he was let free. The vehicle was discovered by police a short time later in Santa Barbara.

After leaving the car, the suspects apparently spotted a patrol car, then took off.

Det. William Baker of the Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department said they "split up — but not intentionally."

Caldwell and Peterson reportedly approached Almon Biggs, 50, in front of his Santa Barbara home as he was leaving for the store.

"They asked if he would take them to their vehicle that had broken down," Baker said Monday.

Once inside, Biggs said, the two pulled a gun and drove him to Atascadero. While stopped at a service station, Biggs apparently screamed for help. The car left the station and the attendant notified police.

Biggs said he was taken to a back road, forced into the trunk, and later the vehicle was abandoned. Half an hour later police freed Biggs.

After abandoning the vehicle, police said, Caldwell and Peterson went to the home of Mildred Stiles in Atascadero. They reportedly forced Stiles and her boyfriend, Delmar Bond, National City, to drive them around in their camper-truck.

Sgt. Carroll said about five blocks from the home, Bond, who was driving, saw a police car.

"He crossed the dividing line (in the road) and headed the camper-truck at the patrol car. He wanted help," Carroll said.

About that time, Caldwell, who was near the door, bailed out and started shooting, Carroll said.

Deputy Alan Bond was hit three times in the leg, and Stiles and her boyfriend were scattered with glass inside the car as the firing continued.

"I was lying under the dashboard," Stiles told reporters afterward. "Bullets went through the windows and we felt glass shattering on our backs."

Monday Officer Boyd was reported in satisfactory condition, although Carroll said artery surgery would be necessary.

Peterson was apprehended shortly after the shoot-out; however, Caldwell eluded officers.

Meanwhile, Saturday afternoon the second couple — Sanchez and Heide — hitched a ride with Guy Culver, 22, in Santa Rosa. Baker said the pair was "cordial" to Culver, but when he told them he had gone as far as they wanted, they pulled a gun.

Culver's vehicle was driven to Santa Maria, where at one stop Heide reportedly took about $50 in a robbery of a liquor store.

Later, when the car was at a stop sign, Culver was able to get out of the trunk and call police. His car was later found abandoned.

Caldwell and Heide then reportedly approached Constantio Barbosa, 21, Nipomo, Calif., at a market where he was planning to purchase a sweat-shirt.

The two said their car battery was dead and they needed a jump.

When they got into the car, they pulled a gun, Barbosa told officers.

Barbosa was driven north, and Monday was left near the Contra Costa - Alameda County line on Morgan Territory Road.

Barbosa told police he was struck in the face with a gun, pushed face down onto a log, and then tied to a post along the road.

After struggling for several hours, Barbosa freed his hands from the rubber cord bonds and walked to Livermore Monday morning where he called his family.

His sister-in-law, 20-year-old Janie Barbosa told The Times she and Barbosa's parents drove the 350 miles to Livermore and then took Barbosa to the sheriff's Department.

Monday night he was being questioned by Walnut Creek police about the incident.

After the session, Barbosa declined to talk about the incident. "I'm okay, but I don't want to talk right now" he said as he left the police station.

Participants in the social service seminars will include Dick Babington, YMCA executive director; Betty Stallings, volunteer bureau director, and Mabra Scherer, Pleasanton Convalescent Hospital activities director.

Social service seminars set

A series of four seminars for coordinators of volunteers in social service agencies will start at 8:45 a.m. Thursday in the Pleasanton Greens social hall, 3819 Vineyard Rd., Pleasanton. The seminars will be co-sponsored by the Chabot College Office of Community Services and the Valley Volunteer Bureau.

Neno Aiello, an instructor in volunteer leadership at Gavilan College in Gilroy, will address the initial meeting.

Other seminars are scheduled tentatively for January, March and April. Further information is available from the Chabot College Office of Community Services, telephone 782-3000, ext. 415.

Wheelchair relay marathon rated a success in Hayward

HAYWARD — The Wheelchair Relay Marathon sponsored by the Self Dependence for the Handicapped Resource Center, Inc. on Nov. 27 was a resounding success, according to a Resource Center spokesman.

The event was held primarily to say "thank you" to the city of Hayward for making the town accessible to the handicapped.

There were 63 participants in the marathon. They covered a total of 273 miles. Donations amounted to $1326 and will be used for needs related to the Resource Center.

Science talk

Dr. Carl N. Degler, professor of American History at Stanford University, will open Chabot College's 1976-77 Social Science Lecture Series at 11 a.m. Thursday.

He will speak on "The History of Women and the American Family" in Room 700 at Chabot's Hayward campus. Admission is free and the public is invited.

Each entrant participated 10 minutes at a time. Joe Morris and Juanita Owens covered the longest distance. They wheeled 20 miles apiece.

The fastest time was done by Jeffrey Evans and Walter Hawkins. They made 1 mile in 15 minutes. The marathon relay ran from 10 p.m. until 10 a.m.

Charles Santana, board of supervisors of Alameda County attended. Arline Adam represented Senator John Holmdahl and Nancy Jewel stood in for Congressman Pete Stark.

CCC appoints new ag chief

Leshner News Bureau
MARTINEZ — Kenneth Danielson, a 22-year county employee, has been named county agricultural commissioner and sealer of weights and measures.

County supervisors made the appointment Tuesday after the state government threatened to fill the vacancy for the county.

The state has a say because the position includes supervision of the county's weights and measures division, an arm of the state government.

The position also involves directing the county Department of Agriculture, including the animal control division.

The position opened up last June with the retirement of Arthur Seeley.

Supervisors delayed naming a successor while the county Department of Agriculture became the focus of a management audit called for the County Administrator Arthur Will.

The audit, still continuing, is examining operations assigned to the department including animal control programs.

Supervisor James Kenny of Richmond, board chairman, said Danielson was named to the top post after he tallied the highest score on a civil service examination.

The other two finalists for the position were William Wallace, chief deputy commissioner; and Bob Cruickshank, a deputy commissioner.

After the appointment was made behind closed doors, Kenny said Danielson was chosen by a unanimous vote.

Danielson, 54, has served as assistant agricultural commissioner since 1958. A resident of Concord, he spent five years with Stanislaus County before joining Contra Costa.

Danielson said he would work for "effective protection of our agricultural industry" and insure equity in the county's weights and measures operations.

As for animal control, he said he'd concentrate on "protecting our citizens and the animals as well."

Danielson will be paid $32,008 a year.

East Avenue widening talk set tonight

LIVERMORE — Rick Dondro, an assistant civil engineer in the city's public works department, will discuss energy considerations related to proposed widening of East Avenue, 7:30 tonight when he meets with the Energy Conservation Committee.

The proposed widening of the street is a cooperative venture of city and county which has tentatively approved a 108 foot right of way.

The matter has gone before the planning commission and is scheduled to be discussed by the city council Dec. 6.

The meeting will be held in the Carnegie Building basement, he told The Times. The public is invited.

Following Dondro's talk, he will answer the committee's questions. The committee is expected to make recommendations to the council.

Children's Hospital sparks holidays

lifestyle

Ceramic Christmas tree, set on a revolving musical base and garnished with permanent lights, is but one of hundreds of small decorated in infinite variety which will be displayed at the 26th Annual 'Festival of Christmas Trees' sponsored by Children's Hospital Medical Center of Northern California.

Under the spell of that heady holiday mood you feel a surge of gratitude for all that brings you happiness and a familiar twinge of conscience — you want to help those less fortunate in a special way this season.

The auxiliary branches of Children's Hospital Medical Center offer opportunities which couple holiday festivity with the spirit of giving. The branches provide major financial support for the hospital which serves ill children and infants of Northern California, including many from the valley.

The most elaborate holiday activity hosted by all the branches is the annual Festival of Christmas Trees featuring hundreds of gaily adorned Christmas trees, holiday-themed sculptures, paintings, ornaments and hand-crafted toys. Admission is only $1 (25 cents for children) to the show and sale which is open to the public Dec. 4 through 9 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily at the Hotel Leamington in Oakland (19th and Franklin Streets).

Local contributors include Helen Dentici of Helen's Blossoms in Livermore and Mrs. David Madis of Livermore.

Chestnut Branch will host an evening of family flicks Thursday, Dec. 9 at the Cinema Six in Hayward. Among family films offered are "The Other Side of the Mountain," and Disney's "The Gnome-Mobile." Tickets at $5 per person may be purchased at the door or reserved at 537-8430. A champagne and punch reception at 7:30 precedes the 8 o'clock presentations.

Between two presidents, Mrs. Aubrey H. Johnson of Pleasanton who chaired the recent Children's Hospital Medical Center Foundation annual meeting, chats with Ralph Sauer, newly-elected foundation president and retiring president Herbert Funk.

Hospital foundation toasts leaders, past and future

Mrs. Aubrey H. (Louise) Johnson of Pleasanton served as chairman of the Children's Hospital Medical Center Foundation's annual meeting at which the foundation's highest award was presented to Mrs. Ruth Ellis of Piedmont.

The Foundation Leadership Award is given each year in recognition of an individual who has served the foundation and Children's Hospital with strong and effective leadership. Mrs. Ellis has devoted more than 50 years of service to Children's Hospital as a volunteer worker in many capacities, has served on the foundation's board of trustees for six years, and is currently chairman of its important Wills and Bequests Committee.

Mrs. Ellis is the first woman to receive the award. Former recipients are Roland D. Patterson of San Leandro, Harold B. Smith of Lafayette, Arthur C. Oppenheimer II and Fred T. Strubling, both of Piedmont.

A special award was made to Herbert W. Funk for his service to Children's Hospital Foundation as president during its campaign to raise $2,300,000 to build the hospital's Intensive Care Center opened in May of 1975.

Ralph Sauer, the new foundation president, is catalog general manager of Montgomery Ward in Oakland. Two new trustees elected to serve three-year terms on the board of trustees are Lillian Weil and Donald F. Dorward, both of Piedmont. Mrs. Robert Cutter of Oakland was elected to serve as the foundation's secretary and Clinton Newell of Lafayette was chosen as the board's vice-president to service with Frederick Greenlee, Edward Cumming of Oakland was re-elected treasurer.

Kids need angels 'n gifts

Children's Hospital Medical Center in Oakland is in need of Christmas "angels" to provide gifts for several department parties for patients.

Although great generosity has always been shown to Children's each holiday season, according to Dorothy Larimer, the hospital's information officer, this special appeal is issued to make holiday parties something special for those who have suffered cystic fibrosis or child abuse, and those who receive treatment for physical handicaps or allergies.

Each of the following groups would welcome financial assistance, unwrapped or wrapped gifts with a description of what is inside:

Cystic Fibrosis department expects 168 children to attend a Dec. 18 party. These children range in age from infants to teenagers, and they may not have friction toys. Contact Trudi Tatum at 654-5600, Ext. 371.

Physical Therapy department expects 60 patients at a party Dec. 12 ranging in age from infants to teens. Contact the department at 654-5600, Ext. 310.

Immunology-Allergy department is entertaining 100 children at a party Dec. 20, with the age range from infant to teen. Contact Mel Strowder at 654-5600, Ext. 415.

The Trauma Center party is set Dec. 20 for 75 children ranging in age from infant to six years. Contact Betty Klein at 654-5600, Ext. 401.

Suggested items include candy, stocking stuffers, soap bubble sets, crayons, coloring books, small racing cars, jacks, playing cards, tablets, colored marking pens, baby squeeze toys, stuffed animals or simple puzzles. Gifts may be brought to the hospital lobby at 51st and Grove Streets in Oakland, or arrangements may be made to pick them up.

Please notify the appropriate department by Dec. 8.

Newcomers introduce lively new president

The most important responsibility of the Livermore Newcomers Club, according to its new president Ellen Scharffenberg, is to welcome newcomers, help them meet other people and learn to enjoy Livermore.

The club which now numbers about 150 hosts an orientation coffee for the newest of the new this morning at 10 a.m. at the home of Penny Gray. Women interested in attending the orientation and Christmas cookie exchange may contact Membership Chairman Nancy Adams at 443-8682 for last minute details.

In the two short years she began a Livermore resident Ellen has become involved as a volunteer at Sonoma Avenue School and as a promoter of boys' soccer. She and her family have also adopted a new activity — sailing — since coming to the Bay Area.

Biggest function of the year for the Newcomers is the upcoming New Year's Eve party which swings at Shannon Community Center in Dublin from 8 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Attractions at the event include cocktails, dinner and dancing to live music by "Tykus," and a stockpile of noisemakers at $20 per couple. Reservations should be made by Dec. 15 with Sue Crase at 1283 Laguna St.

Ellen Scharffenberg, new president for the Livermore Newcomers Club.

Districts join, teach parent educators

The Chabot College Valley Campus will join with the Murray School District in sponsoring a class in Training for Parent Educators, which will meet from 3 to 5 p.m. each Wednesday in Room 7 at Frederiksen School, 7243 Tamarack Dr., Dublin.

The class begins Jan. 5 and extends through March 23.

Purpose of the class, to be taught by Don L. Fong, is to provide parents with an opportunity to improve their skills and to learn:

1) A variety of psychological concepts that can aid in the understanding of causes of behavior and in preparing curriculum materials for study groups.

2) Methods for conducting family education or study groups by assuming responsibility for your own family education with interested people in the community.

3) A better understanding of child development and preparation of a child for healthy personal and social adaptation as an adult.

Students may register-by-mail by contacting the Valley Campus admissions office, 3033 Collier Canyon Dr., Livermore, Calif. 94550, and requesting a registration-by-mail packet. Phone number is 455-5300.

Completed registration-by-mail packets must be returned to the Valley Campus by Dec. 10. Late registration is scheduled from 6 to 9 p.m. Dec. 28 at the Valley Campus.

Hypnotist at Amador

"Mr. Allen," a hypnotist, and a valley resident, will perform at a benefit show Friday at the Amador Valley High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Sociology Speakers Bureau at the high school. The program conducted by teacher Robert Holland attempts to introduce students to those Bay Area and national spokesmen that are, at once, "brightest and best." Now in its sixth year of operation, the speakers program is continuing in its efforts to provide Amador students with exposure to individuals with talents: performing theater artists, musicians, writers, college professors, as well as informed and responsible spokespersons, drawn from various Bay Area organizations. Admission Friday night is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Here's a place to drop off Santa's helpers

LIVERMORE — Going Christmas shopping with the toddlers has got to be the worst kind of torture.

The staff at Valley School know that, and offers a delightful alternative. Park the kiddies at this well-run day care center, all day Saturday or Sunday throughout the Christmas season, and then go out and play Santa.

Warm and loving adult care; lots of activities; and an enticing backyard playground are promised by staffers. Saturday hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Sundays noon to 7 p.m.

Fees for children under two and a half years are $1.25 per hour; two and a half to age seven, $1 per hour. Lunch or dinner will be served for an additional 50 cents per child, on request.

Fern Lane, director, says space must be reserved in advance to assure adequate staff. Call 447-4114 for information and reservations.

Valley School has offered quality child care for children of the Livermore area for the past eight years. Infant care, nursery school and extended day-care programs are conducted at 487 South J St.

Valley School is a nonprofit educational corporation. Visitors are always welcome.

Student exchange

A year in Hamburg to rekindle the fire

DUBLIN — The discipline of the Hamburg, West Germany school system and the general social atmosphere has made a considerable impression on Kevin Jones.

Admittedly unstimulated as he moved into his sophomore year in high school, Kevin decided to look into spending a year overseas under the auspices of Youth For Understanding.

The Michigan-based organization provides for sending almost 2,000 students overseas for a "family living experience lasting a summer or a year. Students are offered a unique way to turn their ideas and ideals inside out for examination and re-examination," according to a program spokesman.

"Students who have gone abroad to Japan, Switzerland, Brazil, Germany and other countries have come back with new insight and attitudes. They have done a lot of growing and maturing in a few short months. While gaining new independence and maturity, they have met new and interesting people, visited historic places and have become familiar with another language," adds the Youth For Understanding outline.

The description closely parallels Kevin's situation.

Criteria for selection includes between 15 and 18 years of age, some facility with the language of the country they hope to go to, and submitting of a short essay on their background and why they want to go Overseas.

Kevin spent a year in Hamburg with a family having two sons about his age, Dirk, 17, and Karsten, 18. The latter had spent a year with an American family in Kentucky.

The West German equivalent of an American high school is called "Gymnasium." At the particular school Kevin attended, there were approximately 1,000 students in grades 5-13. "The 11th and 12th grades at the school were equivalent to our freshman and sophomore college levels," Kevin contends.

There were 13 required classes, Kevin says, including biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics, and an average of seven 50-minute class periods a day. He also took two art courses, a general class and one dealing with impressionist painters of the late 1800s.

"The atmosphere is a lot different because of so many young kids being on the same campus," Kevin says. "There's no reason to be 'hard' and act grown-up in front of them ... you know you're better than them."

"Everything at the school is very competitive. You must pass certain tests in order to graduate and have three chances to do so," comments Kevin. "and if you don't pass you're lost."

"Teachers see to it that you maintain a 'C' grade level. They are a lot more serious about their studies, yet they have fun on weekends. The students over there go out and have a good time, plus the city has a great transportation system," opines Kevin.

"What is there here to do," he adds rhetorically. "And it's so hard to get around."

According to Kevin, the excellent transportation system in Hamburg (Two subways and a bus system) eliminates having to have a driver's license. He estimates that it costs between $400 and $800 to learn how to drive. "They don't have driver's education like we have in the schools here."

"Besides, taxes on cars are ridiculous over there," he adds.

Kevin notes there are also lots of bicycles and motorcycles.

During his year's stay, Kevin spent a week in Helmstadt where his group heard lectures by university professors on history and politics since 1945. They stayed in a youth hostel.

In the spring, the foreign student groups went to West Berlin for a week. A highlight of this segment was a day spent in East Berlin. That night they attended a play entitled "The Summer Citizen," depicting an old man supposedly revolting against the socialist system. "At the end the man all of a sudden decides the socialist system isn't so bad after all.

We just sat there with our mouths hanging open," Kevin exclaims, in describing how the play took such a swift change at the very end. "And it was supposed to be a comedy," he adds.

After graduation from Dublin High School this June, Kevin plans to attend UCLA and possibly major in political science with a minor in communications.

He is also thinking about returning to Europe to work for eight weeks this summer, possibly in Switzerland or Germany.

Kevin is the son of Gerald and Myrna Jones and has a brother, Robert, who is a freshman at Dublin.

Seniors sing

LIVERMORE — Livermore's seniors love to sing their songs.

The Senior Citizens' Chorus practices every Tuesday and are now getting ready for a full Christmas season of performing for others.

Dec. 7 they will sing for the patients at Veterans' Hospital and the Bethany Rest Home. Dec. 19 will find them at the Senior Service Center at 8th and H streets in Livermore.

They lifted up their voices.

County aims at consumer division

Alameda County Bureau "Consumerism" should gain better footing in the county next year with the creation of a Department of Consumer Affairs.

The board of supervisors' sponsored consumer affairs commission, an advisory body, has made "detailed studies" of similar departments across the state and will present its recommendations early in 1977, according to chairperson Agnes Moses, after yet more studies.

In the five counties examined so far, "relationships with the Department of Weights and Measures, the District Attorney's Office and the Board of Supervisors determined the effectiveness of the County's Department of Consumer Affairs," says Moses.

Los Angeles, Orange, Sacramento, Santa Clara and Stanislaus counties have been checked, with Contra Costa, Marin, San Diego and San Francisco counties, and Nassau County, New York, and New York City to follow.

Budgets range from $361,000 for nine months operation in Los Angeles, to $41,000 for a year's work in Stanislaus.

Sacramento started in 1972 with a federal grant, also at the urging of a lone supervisor. Both Santa Clara and Stanislaus counties' programs were born with a push from local community organizations.

Farewell fete given for Aults

Lilly and DeWitt Ault will be the target of a "Thank you and good luck!" party being staged at the Veterans Memorial Building in Pleasanton this Saturday evening.

Long identified with numerous civic affairs throughout the Valley, the Aults recently moved to the Sacramento area where he could be closer to his work, and Mrs. Ault could take up duties as women's editor for the Woodland daily newspaper. She had been well known here for her work with The Times' LIFESTYLE department.

Tickets for the dance and no-host bar are $3.50 per person, and available from the Chamber office on Neal Street, Gingham Corner and First National Bank on Main Street, and The Times.

Valley Campus offers firearms instruction

Chabot College Valley Campus will offer a fire arms qualification course (Administration of Justice 120-99) designed for security guards.

The classroom portion of the class will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 2:50 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 4, in Room 203 at Valley Campus. The weapons qualifications portion will be held the following Saturday morning.

Dec. 11, for two hours on a local firing range.

The class will cover various statutes governing the carrying of weapons by security guards. In addition, the nomenclature including the description and function of weapons will be discussed. Safety rules also will be emphasized in the class. Students passing the class will be issued a card from the Department of Consumer Affairs, Bureau of Collections and Investigating Services.

Students can register for this class at 8 a.m. Saturday in Building 100 at Valley Campus, 3033 Collier Canyon Road, Livermore. The class is open to any student who is a high school graduate or is over 18 years of age and can profit from instruction. Students who are residents of California, as defined by state law and local policy, may attend Chabot College without tuition charge. Persons living in other community college districts may be required to meet permit regulations.

Money managing study

A look at schools

State schools chief Wilson Riles said today that four fiscal experts from three top California companies have agreed to his request to review the state Department of Education's management techniques for state and federally-funded educational programs.

The four include Lanny Lee, PG&E; Rod McCloud and Merrill W. Skeels, Coopers and Lybrand; Robert Hanson, Pacific Telephone.

Bringing in fiscal managers from private business is included in a five-part program created by Riles to update techniques in the Department of Education, and in fiscal guidelines issued to local districts.

Riles said Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, has assured him the resources of the state Auditor-General's office are available to assist the department.

A further step taken by Riles includes creation of a new, top-level position within the department devoted to following up on the data management recommendations of the state Board of Education's Management and Evaluation Commission and to complete revision of the California School Accounting Manual and School Audit Instructions.

SRV schools spawn executives of future

DANVILLE — The business men and women of tomorrow are learning the "ropes" in their respective professions today, thanks to the Executive High School Internship Program conducted by the San Ramon Valley Unified School District.

A national program which has been in existence five years, it currently involves 22 San Ramon district junior and senior students who have been placed with such private sector firms as American Air Lines in South San Francisco and Hyatt Regency Hotel in San Francisco, and public agencies such as the Contra Costa County District Attorney's office, Health Department, and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

San Ramon is one of just four school districts in the state involved in the program, the others being Compton, Sacramento and Monterey.

The idea of implementing the Executive High School Internship Program in the district came through familiarity with the program and its benefits as gained by Superintendent Allan Petersdorf and Assistant Superintendent James Solberg with the Monterey district.

To qualify, a student must have a strong academic record (though not a "brain" or A-plus student), leadership skills and a mature outlook.

Students are pre-screened at the start of the semester by counselors at California, San Ramon and Monte Vista. They are next interviewed by Natasha Cole, coordinator of the program for the San Ramon district, who later counsels those selected to refine their choices for intern placement. She also meets with parents of all those screened to explain the rigors and responsibilities of the program.

Ms. Cole said she interviewed over 100 students last semester.

The students may be sent out to three positions — of their choice — and the sponsors (firms that provide training) will see two, three or four students.

Both the student and the sponsor rate each other, the rankings going to Ms. Cole.

But even before the position and student are paired, Ms. Cole develops a sponsor list.

The latter involves many hours each week seeking out and talking with potential sponsors. Some of the other current sponsors where students work at least four full days each week for a full semester (Four months) include radio station KNBR, television station KQED, I. Magnin's, the American Civil Liberties Union office, and the Martinez offices of Sen. John Negeddy.

The student receives no pay and has to take care of his own travel expenses, though the individual sponsor may assist with travel and eating expenses.

Each Friday is devoted to a seminar back in the San Ramon district with Ms. Cole, where the student must turn in an analytical record of his or her experiences that week.

The program has the potential for near future paid positions in some instances.

Guns are John's biz

In the Bag

John George is the proprietor of a new business establishment in Livermore, known as the "Precision Shooting Supply," located at 2996 Pacific Avenue, telephone 455-1350.

He is engaged in scope mounting, bluing and re-finishing, accurizing, sporterizing, gun conversions and just about any type of gunsmithing you'll need.

In stock are most of the pyrodex powders (a good substitute for black powder, except for flintlers). John says, "If I don't have what you want in stock, I can get it for you mighty quick!"

Best of luck in your new venture, John.

High winds last weekend created many problems, from damaged trees, buildings, and vehicles — to blowing doves right out of the valley to calmer climes. Hunters reported to me that they saw nary a dove after the big blow.

Manuel Mingoa says the wind did seem to bring those big ducks into small, quiet spots of water even with no decoys. He saw the birds coming in large numbers after he had already got his limit of bull sprig. So maybe there were plenty of ducks for others who braved the elements.

Even the catfish were hiding during the windy weather. But when it became quiet the cats were biting like you wouldn't believe out at Bethany Reservoir and also at the Clifton Court Forebay. Best bait proved to be clams and just plain fishing worms.

Dave Montgomery and two sons, Greg and David, were very successful pheasant hunters over the weekend. Grizzly Island was the locale. Dave says, "Where else can one go for $3.50 each and come back with a total of 14 birds? We really worked for them, but it was worth it!"

Dave Hughes tells me that if you want a really good book on the identification of wildfowl, get the one the wardens on the Refuges use: "The Ducks and Geese of North America," by Kortright.

The North, South Bay League held a competition shoot at the Livermore/Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club over the weekend. They use a different scoring system than the standard PITA or ATA shoots. There is a 50-bird instead of the usual 100-bird series. They have a 5-Class Event, and can give more trophies.

First event was the 16-yds. with the following results: Class AA, Frank Lopes, high score, 50; Class A, Ed Valin, 49; Class B, Joe Grodin, 50; Class C, Don Boyer, 47; and Class D, Mary Mann, 45.

Next came the Handicap: Class AA, George Repas, Sr., 44; Class A, Mike Mann, 46; Class B, M. McLeland, 44; Class C, Arnold Adams, 47; and Class D, Frank Schiedeck, 47.

Doubles scores were as follows: Class AA, Cliff Boxill, 46; Class A, Charlie Boarts, 45; Class B, Glen Wiley, 46; Class C, Don Coon, 42; and Class D, Steve Culp, 37.

High Lady for all the events went to Alice Casico who scored 45 on the 16 yds., 39 on the Handicap, and 44 on the Doubles, for a combined total of 128.

High Over-all was Bill Pacheco with 48 on the 16 yds., 43 in the Handicap, and 46 in the Doubles, showing a combined score of 137.

Many of these shooters are accustomed to getting perfect scores; but the high wind and cold proved a detriment to everyone.

The League wishes to thank local people who helped in the office; and also Shirley Baumann and Marge Otterson who kept the all-important food supply available!

Dove and pheasant season will close December 5 at sundown. However, for archers, pheasant hunting season opens Dec. 11 and closes Dec. 19. Last, but not least, the "band tail" pigeon season opens Dec. 11.

Falcons stun Gaels

Undeclared, untied, and unscored upon.

Accomplishments like these could very well belong to an EBAL perennial soccer power like Livermore, Amador, Granada or Dublin.

Add Foothill High School to the list.

The Falcons remained all of the above after an upset 2-0 win over Dublin yesterday on the Gaels' field on the opening day of the East Bay Athletic League season.

Although Foothill coach Keith Sweet isn't promising the existence of those impressive credentials for very long, he was one very happy man after his team played excellent defense to upset the Gaels.

"I haven't even thought about that," Sweet laughed when informed that his team was not only undefeated in three games this year, but perfect on defense. The Falcons defeated Mt. Eden 1-0 and San Lorenzo 2-0 in pre-season games.

"The fullbacks did a good job today," Sweet noted on the play of Dave Albert, Chas Cherolis and Cliff Woodward. "This is the seventh time we've played in Dublin, and the first time we've beaten them. It feels real good to do that."

Anything must feel good after a 1-12-1 season like the Falcons had last year, their first in varsity competition. The Falcons scored two quick goals in the first half on crucial Dublin mixups and benefited from the excellent play of goalies Bret Bevilacqua and Dave Konecny to hang on for the "Sweet" win.

Dave Laudenschick took advantage of a mixup between goalie Rusty Allen and fullback Peter Mangini to head a ball through a wide-open net ten minutes into the game, with an assist from Larry Lorenz, from 12 yards out for a 1-0 Foothill lead.

Five minutes later, Bob Byrd saw the Dublin defenders lagging and ran up to try and steal a shot on goal. Dublin goaltender Allen, the victim of his team's defense, rushed out to try and stop the ball. Byrd's first shot slammed right into Allen, but the Falcon forward toed the rebound and rammed it into the net for the only remaining score the game would see.

The goal was set up by an extremely effective kick by team took a 2-0 lead t the half.

"The Gatorade did it, I want that in the paper," Sweet joked, looking more like a salesman than a soccer coach at the moment. The Falcons switched from water to the thirst-quencher for the contest.

Dublin missed several opportunities in the second half to score, as two crucial off-sides calls, one after a Dublin goal was actually scored, killed the Dubliners.

Mats win foul-plagued contest

There was nearly a whistle a minute yesterday at Granada High School, but in between, the Matadors snuck in a couple of goals to beat visiting Livermore, 2-1, in a key East Bay Athletic League soccer opener.

Livermore was blown for 34 fouls while Granada was called for 33, the referees issued three yellow cards and only one of the goals was scored in anywhere near classic fashion. But, with the geographic rivals included with Amador Valley — 5-0 winners over Monte Vista yesterday — as favorites for the EBAL crown, the game kept its significance for both teams.

"I was glad to see the refs didn't let the game get out of control," was Granada coach Bill Coupe's reaction to the constant interruptions of play. Livermore's rookie coach Dennis Rashe, reacting to a key loss in his league coaching debut, said, "It doesn't hurt as bad as I thought it would."

Less than two minutes into the game, the Cowboys swooped down on a Matador mental error to take the lead. Goalie Gary Lamb rolled the ball carelessly into the path of Livermore's Bob Turpin, who chipped a pass to Jeff Perry that quickly became a 16-yard score.

Reflecting upon the manner in which the Cowboy goal was scored, Coupe said, "Our defense didn't give up anything again today, it hasn't allowed but one goal all year (including three non-league games)."

And the Cowboy lead was short-lived.

Twelve minutes later,

"Poke" goalie Ricky Woods shoved his way out to challenge a Granada thrust and was called for a foul inside the penalty area. That gave Shannon Estill a free shot, and the Granada midfielder ricocheted it off the right post and past Woods into the cage.

Ten minutes into the second half, Granada took the lead for good.

Kevin Burke found Manzar Iqbal to the left of the goal area and Iqbal dribbled past a fallen Cowboy fullback and blasted a curve ball into the corner of the net.

Livermore, scrambling in the final moments of the game, came very close to tying it when Lamb barely shoved Billy Hunt's 30-yard direct kick over the top of the cage.

On the ensuing corner kick, the only one of the day for the Pokes, Livermore's threat was snuffed out when Granada's Mike Fields slammed into Mike Miller to disrupt the Cowboys continuity.

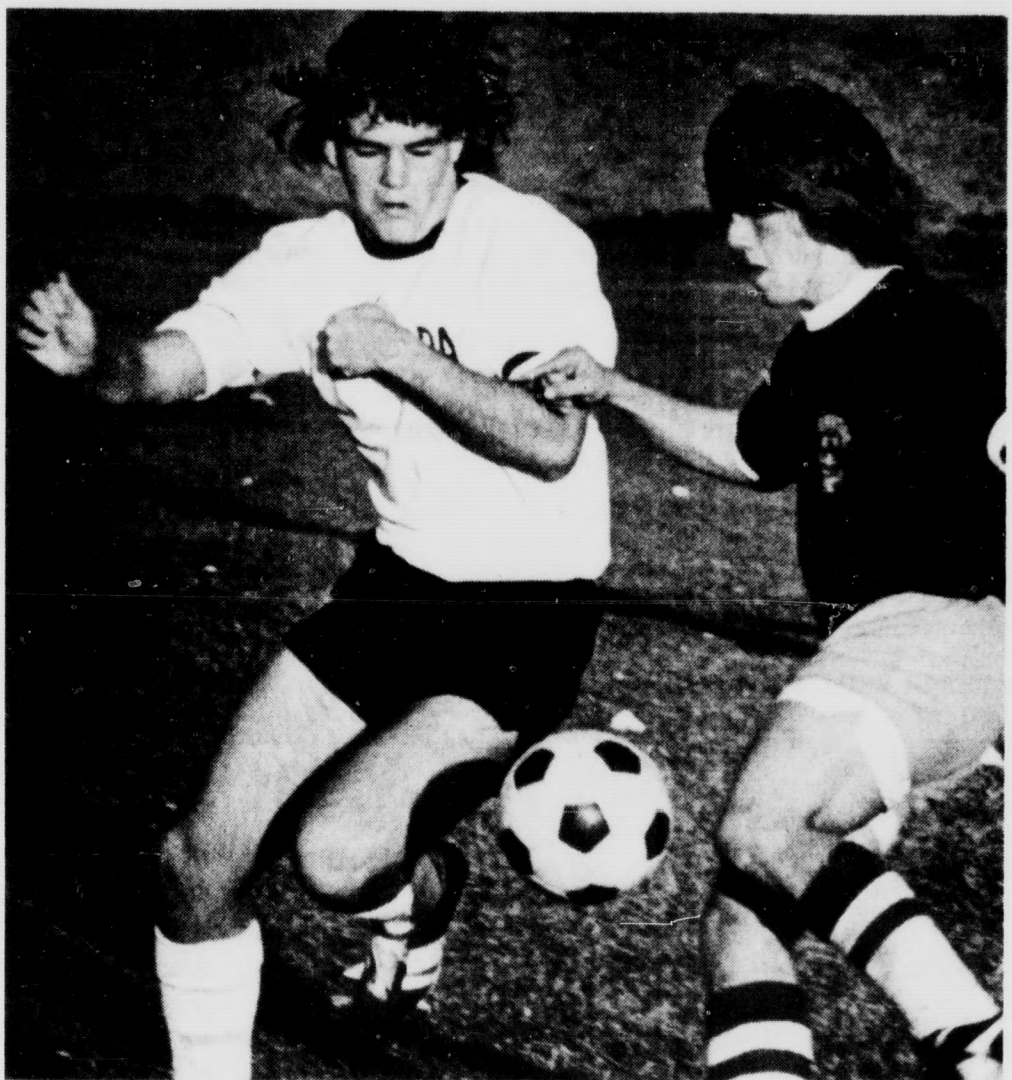

"We played well as a team, considering we had two injuries and a kid with a 102 degree temperature," said Coupe. The fact that the Mats must face another of the top-rated threesome

Cal edges Wolves

As construction of the rest of Cal High's athletic fields ground on in the background, the Grizzly soccer team laid down the foundations for what they hope will be a tradition as well — Cal High victories on their home field.

The Grizzlies blanketed San Ramon 2-0 yesterday afternoon in San Ramon as goalie Mike Daugherty shut off the Wolf offense and Roger Lakner and Greg Clarke supplied the scoring.

San Ramon had plenty of chances in the East Bay Athletic League opener for both teams, but just couldn't seem to put the ball in the net. The shots on goal totals were about even — 17 for Cal, 16 for San Ramon — but the Grizzlies made two of their penetrations count while the Wolves missed several golden opportunities.

Lakner opened the scoring just eight minutes into the game, as he fired a 25-yard free kick off the crossbar and into the net to give Cal a 1-0 lead. San Ramon came back to dominate play for the middle section of the half by keeping the ball at Cal's end.

However Jim Calahane and Daugherty combined to blunt every thrust until Chang Soo Kim wrestled the ball loose from Daugherty to the right of the Grizzly goal. Rushed, Kim got off a shot that trickled just wide to the left of the goal and the on rushing Lee Rose couldn't quite reach it to put it in the empty net.

Dan Marengo came right back with a breakthrough for the Wolves, but Daugherty came out to stop him. The ball worked its way loose for a second, but last year's All-EBAL goalie managed to recover it before anyone could reach it.

Marengo had another chance before half, but shot wide and it was 1-0 at half.

Cal High's offense was not present during the first half, as Wolf fullbacks Jim Meece and Bill Hefferman stopped the Grizzly drives well short of goalie Eric Austad.

The second half began much like the first ended, with San Ramon knocking on the door but never getting a foot in.

Warriors topple Chicago

CHICAGO — Phil Smith poured in 33 points and Rick Barry added 28 Tuesday night to lead the Golden State Warriors to a 125-120 National Basketball Association victory over the skidding Chicago Bulls.

Despite a 24-point performance by rookie Scott May, the Bulls suffered their 12th straight defeat, a team record.

Golden State was leading 118-112 with 2:19 left in the game when Barry knocked the ball out of Norm Van Lier's hand into Charles Dudley's. The Warriors' aggressive guard went in for an easy dunk.

The Bulls fought back to within four points, but Dudley scored again on a lay-up with 1:17 left, to make the score 122-116.

Artis Gilmore got two points for the Bulls on a stuff, but Smith canned a long jumper to put the game out of reach.

Chicago had trailed 84-72 midway through the third quarter. But the Bulls outscored the Warriors 16-7 in a five-minute spurt to close the gap to 90-88. Then Barry and Jamaal Wilkes led the Warriors to a 102-90 bulge before Chicago got seven straight points.

Gilmore and Wilbur Holland had 22 each for the Bulls while Jack Marrin, making his first appearance of the season after being out with mononucleosis, added 14.

Dons breeze over 'Stangs

DANVILLE — Amador Valley and Super Striker Joe Correia opened defense of last year's championship season by soundly defeating Monte Vista, 5-0, in the opening East Bay Athletic League match for both schools yesterday.

Correia, who led the league in scoring last year with a phenomenal 24 goals, was held to only one Tuesday. The Dons, however, which led 1-0 after the first half, rallied for four more scores highlighted by 15 shots on goal.

The Mustangs play host to California Friday at 3 p.m.

Amador, employing an extremely outstanding defensive game, also dribbled, passed and set up efficiently on offense.

The Dons of Mike Gieb were credited with 26 shots on goal, compared with only seven for the outclasses Mustangs.

It took the Dons only eight minutes into the Pittsburg's Tony Dorsett holds the prized Heisman Trophy.

Dorsett wins Heisman

NEW YORK — Before he ever played a game for the University of Pittsburgh, Tony Dorsett wanted to quit.

But, says Coach Johnny Majors, "he never backs away from a challenge." Dorsett didn't back away from this one, either, and it paid off Tuesday when he won the 1976 Heisman Trophy as "the outstanding college football player in the United States."

It was a runaway for Dorsett, almost as easy as his romps through Pitt's 11 victims this year for an all-time NCAA record of 1,948 yards.

The 5-foot-11, 192-pound senior, son of an Aliquippa, Pa., steel mill worker, carried each of the country's five voting regions — East, South, Midwest, Southwest and Far West — and received 701 of 863 first-place votes, 112 seconds, and 30 thirds for a total of 2,357 points. Twenty voters left his name off their ballots. The voting is tabulated on a 3-2-1 basis.

Ricky Bell, Southern California's star running back, finished second in each region but polled only 1,346 points on 73 firsts, 485 seconds and 157 thirds. In third place was another running back, Michigan's Rob Lytle, with a total of 35-85-138 — 413.

"I guess this makes up for last year," said Dorsett, who thought he should have won the 1975 Heisman, but finished fourth. "Not too many people get an opportunity to win the Heisman Trophy. It only comes once in a lifetime, except for Archie Griffin."

But the Heisman Trophy, the single-season record of 1,948 yards, the NCAA career mark of 6,082, the all-time scoring total of 356 points — all could easily have been nothing more than a string of zeroes if Dorsett had had his way. "I was sick and tired of football," Dorsett said. "The first time I wanted to quit was at a high school all-star camp for the Big 33 game in Pennsylvania. There were a lot of other things I could be doing instead of getting my body all banged up, but if I had I'd probably be just another person out on the concrete. The second time was after training camp my freshman year at Pitt. The transfer from high school to college really did it to me. 'I'm basically a quiet person. It was hard for me to even go out and make friends with my own teammates. I was ready to quit school. My mom told me if I quit it would have broken her heart, but the person I'd probably be hurting the most would be myself."

"She didn't really have to do too much talking to get me to go back and now I'm sure she was right. I don't even dare think what would have happened to me if I hadn't gone back. Aliquippa's a small town — some people call it the Little Apple — and it's easy to get off on the wrong foot."

Instead, Dorsett tackled football at Pitt "like a man possessed in his dedication," said Majors. He started working with weights and built himself from a 155-pound freshman to a 165-pound sophomore to a 180-pound junior and finally a 192-pound senior.

"The excess weight helped make me more durable and helped me break a lot of tackles I couldn't previously," said Dorsett.

Dorsett will receive the trophy next Thursday night at the annual Heisman banquet.

Boosters club

John Matuszak and Warren Bankston will be the special guests tomorrow when the Tri-Valley Oakland Raider Boosters Club meets at the Pleasanton Hotel.

A no-host social hour begins at 6:30 p.m. with a sit-down dinner slated for 7:30 p.m. start. The cost is $8.75 for club members and $9.75 for non-members.

Door prizes will be given out. Al LoCasale, Raider executive vice-president, will preside.

Falcons romp

Gaels drop opener

Dublin High opened its basketball season last night with a 65-46 loss to visiting Armijo of Fairfield in the Gael gym.

Mike Harris led the losers with 11 points and also collected 11 rebounds. Nevins paced Armijo with 12 points in a balanced attack.

Dublin meets Logan Friday night on the latters' court.

Foothill picked up its second win with a convincing 54-38 conquest of Sunset in the winners' gym.

Steve Sperber led the winners with 20 points and 17 rebounds. Rick Rosenbach added 12 markers.

Correia named Flecto winner

Joe Correia of Amador Valley High School's soccer team is this week's Flecto Prep of the Week for Alameda County after he became the Dons' all-time total offensive leader against Moreau Saturday.

The 5-11, 145 pound Correia booted the 36th goal of his career, which combined with 14 assists, gave him a total of 50 in both categories. Amador beat Moreau 2-0.

The old Amador Valley record was 49. Correia, only a junior, has almost two full seasons left to extend his record.

Dane Lance of College Park was the Contra Costa winner for his performance in leading the Falcons to a 20-15 win over Mt. Diablo in the Diablo Valley Athletic League's Turkey Bowl game.

Lance, a 5-11, 185 pound senior, carried the ball 25 times for 150 yards, scored twice (once on a 23-yard pass) and completed a pass for 20 yards. He also played defensive back.

Free clinic

A free clinic on mechanics of winter high school sports will be held this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Boys Gym at Amador Valley High School in Pleasanton.

Sponsored by the Boosters, the clinic will concern the sports of Boys' and Girls' basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, and soccer, and ways of improvement in the different aspects of these competitions.

Farmers overcome Dons

Times SPORTS

Dave Weber, Editor

HAYWARD — Rick Hammerstrom tipped in a missed shot with 1:12 to go in overtime to give Hayward High a 72-70 opening season win over Amador Valley here last night.

Amador held a 62-53 lead with 23 to go in regulation play but slowly let the lead slip away. The Farmers finally took a 67-65 lead with 1:20 left in the fourth quarter on Jay Concannon's steal and a layin by David Ferguson.

The Dons tied the game at 67-67 on Mike Hall's free throws but blew a chance to take a win by failing to get a shot off in the last 28 seconds after regaining possession of the ball.

The Dons took a 68-67

lead in overtime on Kearns' free throw but the Farmers came back with a Ferguson field goal and Hammerstrom's tip to tie the game.

Ferguson led all scorers with 19 points while Hayward's Danny Jardin and Kearns had 15.

The Dons, traditionally known for their patient, deliberate style of play, instead started the game off with a hustling, fast break offense, whipping the ball quickly down court after nearly every rebound.

Don Hall hit for three first-period field goals to spur Amador to an 18-15 opening period lead. The Dons had leads of 8-2 and 13-7 before settling for their final margin when Hayward's Wendell Moss hit on a jumper with 1:15 left for the Farmers' 15th point.

Jumping out to a 31-19 lead in the second period, the Dons failed to put Hayward out of the game and found the Farmers gaining on their trial after that.

Jay Concannon started the comeback with a pair of free throws followed by Guy Goveia's reverse layin with 3:00 to go to make it 31-24.

After the Dons scored a bucket Hayward proceeded to score eight straight points to cut the Amador lead to one point with 1:00 remaining in the half. The key shots were another reverse lay-in by Goveia coupled with two long jumpers by Danny Jardin.

Pat Inglesby scored with 50 seconds to go for a 35-32 Amador lead, but successive jumpers by Ferguson and who led first half scoring with 10 points, and Jardin put the Farmers ahead 36-35 with just :10 showing on the clock. Then the Dons' fast-break offense paid off, as Inglesby took a pass from Mike Hansen under the basket at the tail-end of a downcourt break and scored at the buzzer on a lay-in, giving the visitors a 37-36 halftime advantage.

Mats crush Kennedy

FREMONT — Joey Wujek recovered from a first half maiming and went on to score 19 points to lead Granada to a 63-41 non-league win over John F. Kennedy High.

Wujek, after being going to the foul line eight times in the first half and converting only one of seven field goal attempts, due to flailing elbows, came alive in the third quarter to break the game open with three straight outside shots.

In the first half Kennedy found a way to keep 6-7 Granada star Wujek from converting field goals — foul him. Wujek, along with guard teammate Steve Cox, combined for 14 first-half free throws alone to give Granada a 31-22 halftime lead.

Cox was sent to the foul line 10 times and converted eight while Wujek hit on six of eight from the free throw line.

Apparently flustered by the physical abuse taken Wujek hit on only one of five field goal attempts in that half. Cox led first-half scorers with 14 points.

In the opening quarter it was a see-saw battle until Tim Curtis hit a jump shot with 30 seconds to go as the Matadors took a 17-10 lead at the first quarter break.

Tim Schth, 6-5 center, led the Kennedy scoring with first-half scoring with eight markers.

Merged rails

Livermore did it. Why not Pleasanton?

The idea of forcing together two great railroads like Western Pacific and Southern Pacific was unheard of, a few years ago. The rail tycoons cut their swath across America with Congressional blessing, and they aren't about to let us forget it.

Trouble is there have been too many swaths, often leaving us with twin spans of steel, slicing our cities and disrupting other surface traffic with alarming frequency.

Livermore was just one city among many split by a twin set of tracks. But it was also one city determined to do something about it. Livermore's accomplishment was not without headaches, cost overruns and, still, more grade separations to be accomplished.

But the model has been established. Mistakes can be avoided, costs can be better projected. Pleasanton should borrow from its good neighbor's example, and find out what can be done, for how much.

Neither is it all "just another expense we can't afford." The removal of just one strand of tracks can mean a savings of thousands and even millions of dollars for a community to be spared that many grade separations. The land recaptured by that "merger" can be acquired for downtown parking, for recreation trails and even for public transit.

There are unknown costs and perils, to be sure. But Pleasanton has the unique opportunity of checking just eight miles down the line to learn what can be accomplished, for how much. That opportunity should not be ignored.

Chamber's vice

The flap over Sue Scott's candidacy for the Livermore Chamber of Commerce vice presidency is an item of peculiar public concern.

As chief editorial writer for the Tri Valley Herald, Ms. Scott was deemed by some as "too much of a trouble maker" most particularly during that period when the Chamber's leadership and the Livermore city council were often at odds, with damaging results for both. It is this "activism" which some saw, at the eleventh hour, as reason enough to deny Ms. Scott the chamber office for which she was the lone nominee.

We can understand the concern of those, such as Marshall Kamena — former chamber president and now city council member — who "don't want to see the chamber and the city at each other's throats again." But we would reject the reasoning which suggests that a working newspaper person is unable to serve that profession while holding other public office.

Some of us have done both, and with certain evidence of success. The secret is to separate our "power of the press" from that public office. When the two are in conflict we must say so, and then adjust accordingly.

That is true for any business person, doctor, clergyman or civil servant. We must all learn to place community service above personal or private motivation.

Let the Livermore Chamber now place itself above past concerns over Ms. Scott's editorial writings. She has been officially nominated for chamber office, and she should be allowed to pursue that office. There will be time in the year ahead to test the mettle of her chamber servitude, and to then determine — well ahead of the nominating deadline — whether she has earned the right to that organization's highest office.

Parades & lights

The venerable County Fair Parade, a tradition to these past four decades, may be on the brink of extinction again.

This is the same parade that almost went down the drain earlier this year until the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, in league with community groups such as the Pleasanton Jaycees, came to its rescue.

Revival attempts in '77 may necessitate a whip and a chair.

Seems the basic problem is juxtaposing of parades too close to one another — too close, that is, for some of those who've helped support the Fair parade in the past.

An attendant problem — and lots of OTHER communities would like to have this problem — is the "content" of the two parades — the gray beard Fair event and the rambunctious, wise-cracking KNBR-sponsored "Good Times" parade.

Frankly, we hope that both remain a part of the valley calendar.

The air parade has established its credentials and is eagerly awaited by competitive parade groups and youth marching units.

But some parade aficionados say the "Good Times" parade is much more entertaining and makes the Fair event in late June look stodgy in comparison.

Perhaps.

But we have also heard the comment the "Good Times" trek brings all sorts of human bric-a-brac into town, littering the streets, antagonizing citizens and shopkeepers alike and taking the play away from the Fair parade.

As a past participant in both events, I find very few of the "raps" warranted.

About the only legitimate gripe, and it would have to come from the Fair Association, is the closeness aspect.

Two major parades within a month of each other is a bit much.

We spoke up for having the "Good Times" affair earlier in May this past year but found ourselves outgunned.

Radio station KNBR, organizers of the "Good Times" fol de rol, seemed to hold the reins pretty tight during the first two editions of the parade. To the point where some wondered who was running the town.

That changed somewhat this past year as the City of Pleasanton took a more forceful stand on basic organizational matters.

It is hoped the city, Fair board and KNBR can work out a mutually acceptable solution so that both parades may continue. The Fair panel wants a commitment from the city and, unless a viable one is forthcoming, will discontinue financial support.

We would hope the city could request the radio station move its parade to an early May date (like Sunday, May 1 or 8, 1977), a September date — or forget it.

Though we haven't heard from the Pleasanton Jaycees, planning hopefully is underway for the "Third Annual Christmas Lighting Contest" in Pleasanton.

Originally introduced by The Times, the event was taken-up by this super-active Pleasanton group who've done a bang-up job.

Do you copy, Jaycees?!

Brown's record

The convening of the new Legislature next week will mark the halfway point in Governor Jerry Brown's four year term. Perhaps because of the natural charisma of youth, and his penchant for an unorthodox which at times borders on the absurd, Brown has enjoyed an unusually long "honeymoon" as governor.

In the spirit of giving the new governor a chance to get organized he has been allowed to parry hard questions with questions, shift responsibility to the Legislature or to subordinates, and to fault the Republican administration in Washington or the previous state administration. But the days of reckoning have arrived. The nimble footed shadow boxing will no longer serve. Having been in power for two years he is now to be held accountable for the condition of the state. His record has now become indelible.

Ironically, Brown might have prolonged his fortuitous image of "popular young governor" were it not for his strong personal ambitions. Succumbing to those he kicked over the traces. Discarding his pose as a "non-politician too busy with gubernatorial duties" to participate in the mundane affairs of partisan politics, he leaped into the hustings in an effort to capture the Democratic presidential nomination. In the doing he focused attention on his conduct as governor.

As the white glare of light shines on the stark record his bon homies and bon mots are revealed as coverups for failures and ignorance. For that record is largely one of inaction. Despite his seeming dedication to work, as attributed to long hours of seclusion in his office, things just aren't getting done.

The style that emerges is one of action being reaction. Not only did Brown pass the opportunity to spell out administration goals for legislative consideration, he has failed to provide them for his department. Instead he awaits a crisis and then plunges into total concentration to the complete obliteration of all other problems.

Aside from the passage of the farm labor legislation, Brown can claim no significant achievements during his first two years. That was clearly apparent when, during his presidential bid, he himself put forth as a major accomplishment the enactment of a law limiting the amount of water to be used in flushing toilets. Even there he was fudging since all he did was sign legislation dreamed up by others.

As for his ability as an executive, the fact that an average of 500 appointive positions have gone unfilled is only one indication of ineptness. More significant are the messes erupting in prepaid health programs, state mental hospitals, highway construction programs, and soon to be disclosed problems in the motor vehicle department. Regardless of the genesis of these maladministrations, Brown has now been governor sufficiently long to be held responsible. And even if he somehow manages to get those problems squared away, his tendency to single-issue preoccupation harbors the potential for other areas of crisis.

BART's tote bag

Editor, The Times:

I am writing to express my concern about the BART "promotion," an extensive package (which must have cost a bundle to produce) selling a "Go BART" tote bag.

My main concern is that the BART trains are not even operating at a respectable level, and they sit back pushing a tote bag!

In recent months "promotions" such as frisbee contests, Halloween day, BART personnel (management receiving high salaries) dressing up as circus animals, etc., have been pouring out of BART ...

By the time you subtract the cost of the packet, two free $1 tickets, maps, the tote bag, and postage, BART will probably be in the hole a few dollars. I think it is an insult to the people of the three BART counties to receive in their mail a packet such as this.

The 48 things to do on BART include toting "The pill. You never know" and various ethnic quips which aren't exactly degrading, but lead you to believe that the Spanish speaking people cannot speak English, etc.

I think these "promotions" have gone far enough and I would hope a stop is put to them quickly. BART can be a fantastic system once the bugs are out.

Round the town

"You've taken on a little weight since I last saw you."

For reasons I comprehend not, those are fighting words. When directed at one of the female gender.

The dear things will spend hours planning the wardrobe for that evening's big gala. Another hour or two showering, pruning, patting on a little of this and that. And when it is all accomplished?

"I know I look just simply awful," is her own judgment. "But we're late, and it will have to do."

The poor male of the series thinks his date looks absolutely stunning ... clear tribute to the two hours and 35 minutes in preparation therein. At the big affair, several compliments along those same lines assure you that your lady of the evening has indeed achieved cosmetic and sartorial splendor. But at evening's end she is as mad as a wet, well fed hen.

"Did you hear that comment?" she demands.

"You've taken on a little weight since I last saw you." The nerve of that woman... especially since SHE has quite obviously gone up two girdle sizes since last December's gala."

They measure their womanhood in inches. From puberty to thirtyish it is the chest's tape length which is the female standard. Then the tape slips down around the hips, and woe betide that extra inch!

After a child or three, the young mother spends copious hours on the floor, or in the Slim Trim class, trying to recapture the tummy of her childhood. No amount of medical fact to the contrary, she is convinced that 38 years of life and three kids should do nothing to alter her adaptation to a size eight dress.

All of this is brought forcefully home during those weeks between Thanksgiving and New Year's. It is the social season and time when we suburbanites put our best look forward. And our fewest pounds.

"I weigh precisely today what I weighed before the last baby." It is womanhood's greatest claim. Her most singular triumph.

Never mind that the pounds have shifted around a little. The bathroom scale's the thing! No other measure of the female form is tolerated. Once they're in the 40 - plus era.

My own exposure to the opposite sex — several daughters, wife, female Dachshund, Tuesday household helper etc. — has left me with few qualifications to judge that bewildering complex of nylons, nuances and Nutrogena. But there is one observation that, over the years, has given me a clue as to the maturation of woman.

It is when they no longer step into their skirts, but rather pull down from overhead. Here is clear proof that the hip is mightier than the head, even when expensively coiffured.

Oh, there are other signs, to be sure. The eye shadow that is never just right. Choosing just the correct neck - around piece. That final s - w - o - o - s - h into the living room accompanied by the light-hearted — "Well, how do I look?"

But all these things seem constant, from first date to 50th wedding anniversary. They will always do with themselves and to themselves as they want. They will persist in rejecting the male opinion as irrelevant and immaterial (even though our commentary is sought throughout the dressing period, and thoroughly ignored).

But our opinion counts for something in that final flamboyant dressing room review ...

"Well, how do I look?"

And over the years the answer, thank heaven and Helena Rubenstein, has always been the same.

"You look perfectly gorgeous, sweetie." Words to carry her aloft throughout the evening, until some idiot offers a comment on her poundage.

"Are we all set to leave then?" she says brightly, while the evening is still young and flattering.

"Not quite," says I. "A problem with these blessed pants, for some strange reason."

"They look terribly snug," she says, observing me closely on all four quarters. "I hope the cleaners didn't shrink them!"

The cleaners have been shrinking a lot of my things lately. Particularly the pants. Most particularly around the waist.

"Hold in your tummy and don't eat too much," is her only response to my problem. "And for goodness' sake ... if you unbutton yourself during dinner, be sure to button up again before you stand up! It can be terribly embarrassing."

Ah yes. Man is not measured in years or pounds alone. It is rather where he hangs out that society makes its final judgment.

Lining up

Our first clue should have been the reserve policeman who beckoned to us from the middle of the jammed parking lot.

Out of the corner of his mouth he muttered, "I can't tell you to park over there in the Howard Johnson's lot ... But a lot of people are doing it and nobody's stopping 'em."

The Liberty House warehouse in Dublin was surrounded with cars, drizzle and people carrying chairs on their heads.

The semi - annual sale had only started an hour ago, at the very un - Saturday hour of 8:30 a.m. Inside, the atmosphere was festive as people climbed over each other to get the last king - sized red blanket, or dove under the counter after a bath sheet only to be trapped down there by a hundred pairs of legs.

Scientist Bob Freis and Taxpayers Union leader Ray Faltings were among the prominent Valley citizens spotted wandering around in search of their wives.

A lady in curlers caught my eye across a stack of coordinated towels. They were conspicuous because they were neatly folded.

"Looks like somebody set these down for a minute," she said hoarsely, fingering the one - of - a - kind brown ones with woven border.

"Those batik kind are what I'm after," I whispered. "And these are the only set left."

"Here!" She thrust the batik towels at me, snatched up the bordered ones and melted into the mob.

I stuffed mine into the huge poppy print comforter I was balancing on my head because it was too fat to get between the aisles.

Then, snatching my daughter Rachel's hand, I fell back to the Revere Ware table where we just missed the last two - quart copper - bottom pot but got the last one - quart.

It seemed like a good idea to buy five more towels and three washcloths. And the sheets were a bargain so I grabbed a king sized pair to match the comforter (no matching pillowcases, of course), then spotted a queen sized pair for our sleep sofa (no pillowcases.)

It only took 10 minutes to transform the two of us into walking linen piles.

I had too many bargains in my grip to pay much attention when a muffled voice from under an orange rug warned: "My friend got in that line over there an hour ago and look. She's only halfway to the front now."

It seemed like time to get in line ourselves so I led the walking linen pile that used to be my daughter past blankets...and luggage...and refrigerators. Past chairs, stereos, mattresses. To a part of the store where the sights and sounds of cash registers were only a distant fantasy.

A small head emerged from the pile of towels. "This is some line," Rachel observed, craning her neck.

"Cocktails will be along in a minute," grinned a guy in the next line, hugging his haul of three suits and an electric wok.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband and I are heavy smokers. We have now reached the point where we can feel the ill effects from smoking so much and have tried a few times to stop but always ended up smoking again.

We have heard of hypnosis being an answer to our problem. We would like to have your opinion on how effective hypnosis is and if there are side effects. Would you recommend hypnosis as a possible solution? We are looking forward to your response.

DEAR READER — Hypnosis may help but it won't cure you. The people who are cured of smoking from hypnosis are ones who really want to quit — not those who just think they want to quit. Motivation is everything. Hypnosis may help a person cut down on smoking, but too often the person who seeks help really does so to please his mate or for some similar reason and deep down really doesn't want to stop the habit. In these circumstances the effort is usually wasted.

I think if you understand that you have to provide the willpower and realize that hypnosis is only a help and you have to do the rest it might be helpful to you.

Another solution that helps some people is to get away from their everyday environment that is associated with smoking. A vacation with your husband with an agreement that neither will smoke is a good idea. Try to plan something that will keep you busy and not associate you with friends you are used to smoking with. That may help you get started. Don't be discouraged; most people who quit try it several times before they are finally successful. Remember the old adage, if at first you don't succeed try, try again.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-6, Tobacco: Cigarettes, Cigars, Pipes. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know what causes gallstones and why we have to have our gall bladder taken out. What are gallstones really made of?

DEAR READER — Gallstones come in different varieties. Some are made mostly of the bile pigments and are hard stones that one can see on a routine X ray of the abdomen. Others are made of cholesterol, which is concentrated in the bile. Still others are a mixture of cholesterol and pigment with other chemicals.

Gallstones are most likely to form when the gall bladder has become inflamed. It can get inflamed just as your appendix can. They also tend to form when there is an abnormal ratio of bile pigments, cholesterol and substances that help to maintain solubility of these in the bile. The material settles out and forms small grains which grow to larger stones.

The gall bladder is usually removed when stones are present because of the very present danger of an acutely inflamed gall bladder which can rupture and lead to serious complications, or because the small stones may lodge in the bile ducts and obstruct the liver. There is also a higher incidence of cancer of the gall bladder in patients with stones.

The decision whether to take a gall bladder out or leave it in is often based upon the age and medical condition of the patient in relation to these dangers.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHY DO WOODPECKERS PECK ON WOOD?"

A. WHEN A WOODPECKER PECKS, IT IS USUALLY DIGGING FOR INSECTS THAT ARE LIVING IN THE BARK OF THE TREE. IT ALSO USES ITS BILL TO DIG OUT A NEST HOLE AND TO DRUM OUT ITS SPRING MATING CALL.

JEANNIE WALKER
TYGH VALLEY, OR

DICK ROBERTS

When a woodpecker pecks on a tree, it is usually searching for food. Using its strong, chisel-like bill, the woodpecker digs out insects living in the cracks in the bark of trees.

The woodpecker's strong claws grip the tree firmly, while the stiff tail feathers brace the bird as it leans backward. It uses its long, sharp tongue to spear food inside deep holes.

In the springtime a woodpecker calls to its mate by drumming out a loud tattoo on a dry limb, telephone pole, or the roof of a house.

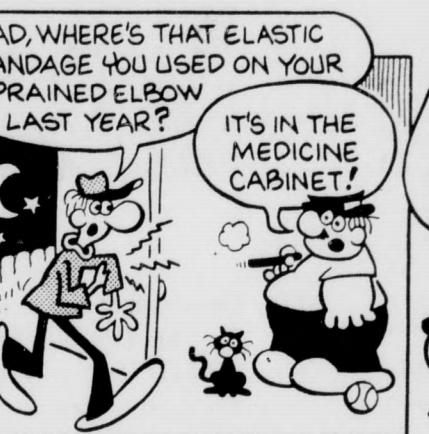

It also uses its bill to dig nest holes in dead trees. The woodpecker leaves fine chips of wood on the bottom to cushion the white eggs. Most kinds of woodpeckers are our friends. They eat insects that harm trees.

Only a few woodpeckers sometimes harm trees. The unwelcome ones are the sapsuckers. As their name tells us, they drill rows of holes in the bark of trees and drink the sap as it drips from the holes.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

For Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1976
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Partial successes are likely today because you'll have too many irons in the fire. Settle on just one or two things, but do them well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to make unreasonable demands of loved ones. Your feelings could be hurt when they're unable to comply with your wishes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Treat all your friends impartially today. Playing favorites must be avoided at all costs, or you'll turn off someone you're fond of.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful not to tread on too many toes today in order to satisfy your ambitions. Your victory would be a hollow one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Associates may agree with your ideas today, but express other opinions behind your back. Be careful who you put your trust in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business conditions are a bit trickier than usual for you today. Move warily. You could involve yourself in something costly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't make concessions today just for the sake of expediency. Give-and-take is a two-way street.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Attend to your own responsibilities today before assuming those of others. Spreading yourself too thin will help no one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you follow your prearranged plans today, things should work advantageously. However, you're likely to deviate a bit and cause problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Keep family affairs confidential today. Persons who don't share your roof should not be let in on family secrets.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People who don't readily agree with you today tend to awaken your wrath. You would fare better if you try to understand their views.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you're too generous with the wrong person today you could feel like a patsy later on. Avoid anyone who formerly tried to take advantage of you.

Playing at six spades, South has no trouble at all. East takes his ace of spades at trick one and that is all the tricks the defenders can even come close to.

Six notrump makes just as easily. Which is the better contract? Six notrump will fail if East holds four diamonds to the jack. A spade declarer would have no worries about that provided spades broke 3-2, so that he could draw trumps and ruff one diamond.

With spades as trumps there are possible ruffs in case one defender holds a singleton, the suit is led and partner holds the ace of trumps and can give a ruff. That doesn't matter. Either contract is a good one, but there is practically no way to get to six notrump. Seventeen points opposite 12 with only one five-card suit is just not supposed to produce a notrump slam.

This hand is given here to show how much better modern bidding — even simple modern bidding is than 1930 bidding.

You don't have to be an expert to reach that six-spade contract, once you respond one spade. Back in that 1930 final match both South players made the 1930 response of two notrump. Both North players raised to three notrump. No one bid spades and no one thought of a slam.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know if it is a good idea to concede a one bid in rubber bridge when it does not give declarer game.

We don't think so. Contracts of one are likely to be very interesting and you can get lots of fun out of playing many of them.

State tightens control on coastline building

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Land use controls described as possibly the toughest of their kind take effect next month along a coastline that includes what a poet once called "the greatest meeting of land and water in the world."

Francis McComas was referring to a spectacular mixture of cliffs, rocks and crashing waves south of Monterey called Point Lobos.

It is one of hundreds of spots from the balmy beaches of Southern California to the misty redwoods of the North Coast that have been luring Americans since the Gold Rush.

For more than four years this 1,100-mile shoreline has been a battle ground between a labor-business coalition and environmentalists trying to stem development they say has already blighted many beach areas.

The outcome of that struggle is the controls that go into effect Jan. 1, a system of land use restrictions and requirements that are not as tough as environmentalists wanted but are stronger than developers thought necessary.

"It won't mean that there couldn't ever be any development," says Joseph Bodovitz, executive director of the temporary coastal commission that helped devise the restrictions.

"You just can't say that you can't use privately owned land for anything, but you can set down stringent controls so that if an area is developed it's done in an environmentally sound way."

"And that's what the bill does."

The bill, signed by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. in September, was an outgrowth of Prop. 20, a 1972 ballot measure that set up a system of temporary commissions with power over coastal development.

Prop. 20 also required the commissions to write a master plan for the coast, which was the basis for the coastal bill.

That bill, which cleared the legislature only after it was defeated once and then revived in modified form, sets down a series of policies that local coastal governments must follow in making development decisions.

They include concentrating development in already urbanized areas, protecting coastal agriculture, timber and wetlands, and providing adequate public access to the beaches.

The bill generally affects an area that runs 1,000 yards inland, although it can extend up to five miles in environmentally significant sections and drop to less than 1,000 yards in cities.

Valley military news

PLEASANTON — Navy Fire Control Technician Third Class Timothy J. Lehman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Lehman Jr. of 5017 Golden Road, is participating in Exercise "Comptuex 1-77" off the Southern California coast.

He is a crewmember aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Chicago, homeported in San Diego. "Comptuex 1-77" is designed to improve the individual combat readiness of each ship involved, by stressing all phases of naval operations, including anti-submarine, surface and air warfare. It is the first in a series of composite training exercises to be held in the Pacific between now and October, 1977.

Involved in the five-day exercise are 13 ships, 100 aircraft and about 9,000 men. "Comptuex 1-77" is being coordinated overall by Vice Admiral Samuel L. Gravely Jr., USN, Commander, Third Fleet. The at-sea commander is Rear Admiral Paul E. Peck, USN, Commander, Carrier Group Three. His flagship is the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

Lehman joined the Navy in October, 1973.

PLEASANTON — Marine Private First Class Jay L. Bevard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Bevard of 7974 Hillsboro Court, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with Force Troops at Twentynine Palms, Ca.

He joined the Marine Corps in December, 1973.

A 1975 graduate of Del Valle High School, he joined the Navy in August, 1976.

Hire an electrical contractor

ONLY IF HE HAS THIS:

This symbol means your contractor is:

- insured—to protect you...against liabilities due to accidents.
- licensed—by the state to meet ordinance requirements for safety, quality materials and workmanship.
- city or county inspected—to be sure your job has the right materials, properly installed, in the right place.
- employing industry trained personnel—to give you qualified union workmen whose years of training and experience assure a top quality job.

This symbol also tells you that your electrical job will be done faster, better, safer. And that it will cost you less over the long term.

BART reports holiday fare big success

Leshar News Bureau OAKLAND — Nearly 50,000 people, or more than three times last year's level, took advantage of BART's 30-cent Thanksgiving Day fare, officials reported.

And the Concord station had the heaviest patronage according to spokesman Mike Healy who said more than 2,000 people boarded trains at that station between 6 a.m. and midnight Thursday.

Healy said consideration is being given to offering discount fares on other holidays as well, although no formal plans have been proposed yet.

Riders were able to travel anywhere on the three-county transit system for a standard fare of 30 cents, which is usually just enough to get you from Concord to Pleasant Hill.

Healy said only 15,000 people used BART on Thanksgiving Day 1975, when regular fares were in effect. Average weekday patronage is about 133,000 he said.

Five openings

Dublin chamber expands

DUBLIN — Twenty new members have joined the Dublin Chamber of Commerce within the past month bringing membership to the 250 mark.

Those businesses and individuals from Dublin who recently joined are: Shaw Investigation, Northern Cash Register, Woolworth's Garden Center, Dublin Iceland, Cass Walters and Neil Miller.

Herr's Auto Stereo, The Sound Hub, Stanley Diamond and Associates, Dick Nodlinski, Dublin Auto Stereo and Romley's Market.

Careermakers Agency, Crocker Homes, Avco Financial Svcs., Cybermed Corporation, Valley Boat House, Montgomery Ward Catalog and Farmers Insurance Group have also joined.

Crafty Fox from San Ramon also became a member.

Grand openings were recently conducted for the following: Village Lighting, Time Tree Gallery, Gift Odyssey, Clothes Menagerie and Monument Car Parts.

Film program winding up

DUBLIN — The current free film program for children being held Saturdays from 2 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. at the Dublin Public Library will have its last showing Dec. 11.

On Dec. 4 the Selfish Giant and Foolish Frog will be shown. The Dec. 11 offering will be on the Twelfth Day and Shoemaker and the Elves.

"We hope to continue this program beginning sometime in January," said Neel Parikh, children's librarian at Dublin Public Library.

Senior center open

DUBLIN — A free senior citizen drop-in center for people 50 years and older is available Tuesdays at from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Shannon Park Community Center, 11600 Shannon Ave., Dublin.

Activities include crocheting, knitting, sewing, card playing, bingo, pool, ping pong, shuffleboard and much more.

If coffee is served, a donation of 25 cents is accepted.

Regular senior citizen meetings are held Thursdays from noon to 3 p.m. at the Shannon Park Center. Coffee is provided but bring a sack lunch. A donation of 25 cents covers coffee and incidental expenses.

Activities and trips are held at various times and places.

Both programs are sponsored by the Valley Community Services District.

For further information, call the VCSD Recreation Dept. at 828-7711.
